Using the Student-Friendly Rubric

On the STAAR assessment (both literary and expository), there are three dimensions of quality that are used in evaluation:

- Organization & Progression of the Essay
- Development of Ideas
- Use of Language and Writing Conventions

The official writing rubrics can be downloaded from the TEA website (http://www.tea.state.tx.us/student.assessment/staar/writing/), and teachers should examine them critically to help with planning instruction.

The Rubric for Narrative Writing (Personal Narrative) is similar to the rubric for Expository Writing, but with a few important differences (style, voice, and presentation of ideas).

Students should become familiar with the expectations for high-quality writing in each genre, and the Student-Friendly Rubric is a good way to introduce the criteria for each kind of writing to them.

Students should score their own paper using the rubric, and then the teacher should give the paper a second score (using the spaces provided on the Student Friendly Rubric). Over time, and with conversation and feedback, students will begin looking for the same characteristics that the teacher is looking for.

When students fully understand this rubric, they can begin evaluating their peers' papers.

High School Rubric for Narrative Writing

Name _____

Narrative Writing	Му	Teacher
	Score	Score	points	grade	Total Score:
Organization & Progression (On Topic, Flows Sn	noothl	γ)	12	100
The introduction and conclusion are engaging and appropriate, and every part of the paper is on topic.	•		11	94
Sentences and paragraphs flow smoothly, with every detail	4	4	10	88
adding to the quality of the narrative.			9	82
The introduction and conclusion add to the paper, and most of the paper is on topic.			8	76	Grade:
Most sentences and paragraphs include effective transitions,	3	3	7	70
and most of the details support the focus of the paper.			6	64
The introduction and conclusion are weak, and sometimes the			5	58 paper is not on topic. Few transitions are included, and some points are not relevant	2	2	4	52
and don't really contribute to the focus of the paper.					ļ
The introduction or conclusion is missing, and the paper is			Note	es:
often off topic. Sentences are choppy, and paragraphs are disjointed. There is	1	1 repetition and unnecessary wordiness.
Development of Ideas (Details & Elaboration)
Imaginative and creative use of details and elaboration that effectively supports the important ideas in the paper.	4	4
Some details and elaboration help to support important ideas in	3	3
the paper.	)	3
Details are present, but they don't really support the important ideas. Details are often unnatural and disconnected.	2	2
Very few details are present, and no information is given to support the important ideas.	1	1
Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar
Writer's voice and personality is evident, and writer's word choice and language is vivid and expressive. Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.	4	4
Writer's style is mostly effective and appropriate, and parts of the paper are expressive and engaging. Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.	3	3
Writing is formulaic and simple with no varied sentence structure or expressive language. Writer makes many mistakes that 9th grade students should not be making.	2	2
Writing is very confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward. Writer makes many grammar and spelling mistakes.	1	1

High School Rubric for

Expository Writing

Name _
--------	--

Expository Writing	Му	Teacher	points	grade	Tatalo
Oncanization & Programmian (On Tonic Flows S	Score mooth!	Score	12	100	Total Sc
Organization & Progression (On Topic, Flows S The introduction and conclusion establish the controlling idea,	11001111	у)	11	94
and every part of the paper supports that controlling idea.	4	4	10	88
Ideas in the paper are logically organized and presented in a	4
way that clearly supports the controlling idea.			9	82
The controlling idea of the paper is fairly clear, but is presented in a formulaic manner.			8	76	Grade
Ideas in the paper are mostly logical, although at times the	3	3	7	70
organizational structure of the paper is weak.			6	64
The paper contains a controlling idea, but it is not clear and			5	58 focused. The ideas are not presented in a logical manner, and the	2	2	4	52 organizational structure of the paper is often confusing.
The controlling idea of the paper is not clear at all, and the			Note	es:
paper is often off topic.	1	1
There is no organizational structure in the way the ideas are	_	- presented in the paper.  Development of Ideas (Details & Flohanstian)
Development of Ideas (Details & Elaboration)
Very clear and well-presented facts and details clearly and consistently support the controlling idea of the paper.	4	4
Facts and details are provided to support the controlling idea, but important information is either unclear or left out.	3	3
Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the controlling idea. Facts and details are often formulaic.	2	2
Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the controlling idea is provided.	1	1
Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar
Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task. Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.	4	4
Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate. Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.	3	3
Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the expository writing task.	2	2
Writer makes many mistakes that 9th grade students should not be making.
Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.	1	1
Writer makes many grammar and spelling mistakes.

	points	grade	Total Score:
ı	12	100
	11	94
	10	88
	9	82
	8	76	Grade:
	7	70
	6	64
	5	58
	4	52
		•

High School Rubric for Persuasive Writing

Name _____

Organization & Progression (On Topic, Flows Smoothly)  The introduction and conclusion establish the argument's position and every part of the paper supports the argument and very part of the paper supports the argument's position.  The position of the argument is fairly clear, but is presented in a formulaic manner. Ideas in the paper are mostly logical, olthough at times the organizational structure of the paper is weak.  The paper are mostly logical, olthough at times the organizational structure of the paper is weak.  The paper archains a position on the argument, but it is not clear or focused.  The supporting ideas are not presented in a logical manner, and the organizational structure of the paper is often confusing.  The position of the paper is not clear at all, and the support ideas are often weak or off topic.  There is no organizational structure in the way the ideas are presented in the paper.  Development of Ideas (Details & Elaboration)  Very clear and well-presented facts and details clearly and consistently support the argument's position, but important information is either unclear or left  Facts and details are provided to support the argument's position, but important information is either unclear or left  Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the argument's position. Facts and details are often formulaic.  Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistokes.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistokes.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistokes.  Writer shows and promare instakes.  Writer shows and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.  Writer makes many mistokes that 10th grade stu	Persuasive Writing
The introduction and conclusion establish the argument's position and every part of the paper supports the argument.  Ideas in the paper are logically organized and presented in a way that clearly supports the argument sposition.  The position of the argument is fairly clear, but is presented in a formulaic manner.  Ideas in the paper are mostly logical, although at times the organizational structure of the paper is weak.  The paper contains a position on the argument, but it is not clear or focused.  The supporting ideas are not presented in a logical manner, and the organizational structure of the paper is often confusing.  The position of the paper is not clear at all, and the support ideas are often weak or off topic.  There is no organizational structure in the way the ideas are presented in the paper.  Development of Ideas (Details & Elaboration)  Very clear and well-presented facts and details clearly and consistently support the argument's position, but important information is either unclear or left  Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the argument's position, Facts and details are often formulaic.  Very refew facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer's word choice and grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persususe writing task.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.  1 1 1				points	grade	Total Score:
and every part of the paper supports the argument. Ideas in the paper are logically organized and presented in a way that clearly supports the argument's position.  The position of the argument is fairly clear, but is presented in a formulaic manner.  Ideas in the paper are mostly logical, although at times the organizational structure of the paper is weak.  The paper contains a position on the argument, but it is not clear or focused.  The supporting ideas are not presented in a logical manner, and the organizational structure of the paper is often confusing.  The position of the paper is not clear at all, and the support ideas are often weak or off topic.  There is no organizational structure in the way the ideas are presented in the paper.  Development of Ideas (Details & Elaboration)  Very clear and well-presented facts and details clearly and consistently support the argument's position, but important information is either unclear or left  Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the argument's position, Facts and details are often formulaic.  Very refew facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.	Organization & Progression (On Topic, Flows Sn	noothly	y )	12	100
Ideas in the paper are logically organized and presented in a way that clearly supports the argument's position.  The position of the argument is fairly clear, but is presented in a formulaic manner.  Ideas in the paper are mostly logical, although at times the organizational structure of the paper is weak.  The paper contains a position on the argument, but it is not clear or focused.  The supporting ideas are not presented in a logical manner, and the organizational structure of the paper is often confusing.  The position of the paper is not clear at all, and the support ideas are often weak or off topic.  There is no organizational structure in the way the ideas are presented in the paper.  Development of Ideas (Details & Elaboration)  Very clear and well-presented facts and details clearly and consistently support the argument's position.  Facts and details are previded to support the argument's position, but important information is either unclear or left  Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the argument's position. Facts and details are often formulaic.  Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistokes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writer places are simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.				11	94
way that clearly supports the argument's position.  The position of the argument is fairly clear, but is presented in a formulaic manner.  Ideas in the paper are mostly logical, although at times the organizational structure of the paper is weak.  The paper contains a position on the argument, but it is not clear or focused.  The supporting ideas are not presented in a logical manner, and the organizational structure of the paper is often confusing.  The position of the paper is not clear at all, and the support ideas are often weak or off topic.  There is no organizational structure in the way the ideas are presented in the paper.  Development of Ideas (Details & Elaboration)  Very clear and well-presented facts and details clearly and consistently support the argument's position. Pacts and details are provided to support the argument's position. Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the argument's position. Facts and details are provided.  Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.  1 1 1	, , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , ,	4	4	10	88
The position of the argument is fairly clear, but is presented in a formulaic manner. Ideas in the paper are mostly logical, although at times the organizational structure of the paper is weak.  The paper contains a position on the argument, but it is not clear or focused.  The supporting ideas are not presented in a logical manner, and the organizational structure of the paper is often confusing.  The position of the paper is not clear at all, and the support ideas are often weak or off topic.  There is no organizational structure in the way the ideas are presented in the paper.  Development of Ideas (Details & Elaboration)  Very clear and well-presented facts and details clearly and consistently support the argument's position.  Facts and details are provided to support the eargument's position.  Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the argument's position. Facts and details present in the paper.  Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistokes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.  1 1 1	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·	'	'	9	82 presented in a formulaic manner.  Ideas in the paper are mostly logical, although at times the organizational structure of the paper is weak.  The paper contains a position on the argument, but it is not clear or focused.  The supporting ideas are not presented in a logical manner, and the organizational structure of the paper is often confusing.  The position of the paper is not clear at all, and the support ideas are often weak or off topic.  There is no organizational structure in the way the ideas are presented in the paper.  Development of Ideas (Details & Elaboration)  Very clear and well-presented facts and details clearly and consistently support the argument's position.  Facts and details are provided to support the argument's position.  Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the argument's position. Facts and details are often formulaic.  Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.
Ideas in the paper are mostly logical, although at times the organizational structure of the paper is weak.  The paper contains a position on the argument, but it is not clear or focused.  The supporting ideas are not presented in a logical manner, and the organizational structure of the paper is often confusing.  The position of the paper is not clear at all, and the support ideas are often weak or off topic.  There is no organizational structure in the way the ideas are presented in the paper.  Development of Ideas (Details & Elaboration)  Very clear and well-presented facts and details clearly and consistently support the argument's position. but important information is either unclear or left  Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the argument's position. Facts and details are often formulaic.  Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer makes many mistakes.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.			2	8	76	Grade:
The paper contains a position on the argument, but it is not clear or focused. The supporting ideas are not presented in a logical manner, and the organizational structure of the paper is often confusing.  The position of the paper is not clear at all, and the support ideas are often weak or off topic. There is no organizational structure in the way the ideas are presented in the paper.  Development of Ideas (Details & Elaboration)  Very clear and well-presented facts and details clearly and consistently support the argument's position. Facts and details are provided to support the argument's position, but important information is either unclear or left Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the argument's position. Facts and details are often formulaic.  Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.		3	3	3	3	7	70 clear or focused. The supporting ideas are not presented in a logical manner, and the organizational structure of the paper is often confusing. The position of the paper is not clear at all, and the support ideas are often weak or off topic. There is no organizational structure in the way the ideas are presented in the paper.  Development of Ideas (Details & Elaboration) Very clear and well-presented facts and details clearly and consistently support the argument's position, but important information is either unclear or left Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the argument's position. Facts and details are often formulaic.  Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task. Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate. Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task. Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.  1 1 1				6	64
The supporting ideas are not presented in a logical manner, and the organizational structure of the paper is often confusing.  The position of the paper is not clear at all, and the support ideas are often weak or off topic.  There is no organizational structure in the way the ideas are presented in the paper.  Development of Ideas (Details & Elaboration)  Very clear and well-presented facts and details clearly and consistently support the argument's position.  Facts and details are provided to support the argument's position, but important information is either unclear or left  Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the argument's position. Facts and details are often formulaic.  Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.	1 ' ' '			5	58
the organizational structure of the paper is often confusing.  The position of the paper is not clear at all, and the support ideas are often weak or off topic.  There is no organizational structure in the way the ideas are presented in the paper.  Development of Ideas (Details & Elaboration)  Very clear and well-presented facts and details clearly and consistently support the argument's position.  Facts and details are provided to support the argument's position, but important information is either unclear or left  Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the argument's position. Facts and details are often formulaic.  Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.  1 1		2	2	4	52
The position of the paper is not clear at all, and the support ideas are often weak or off topic.  There is no organizational structure in the way the ideas are presented in the paper.  Development of Ideas (Details & Elaboration)  Very clear and well-presented facts and details clearly and consistently support the argument's position.  Facts and details are provided to support the argument's position, but important information is either unclear or left  Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the argument's position. Facts and details are eften formulaic.  Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.  1 1	,, ,				32 are often weak or off topic. There is no organizational structure in the way the ideas are presented in the paper.  Development of Ideas (Details & Elaboration)  Very clear and well-presented facts and details clearly and consistently support the argument's position.  Facts and details are provided to support the argument's position, but important information is either unclear or left  Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the argument's position. Facts and details are often formulaic.  Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.  1 1				Note	es:
There is no organizational structure in the way the ideas are presented in the paper.  Development of Ideas (Details & Elaboration)  Very clear and well-presented facts and details clearly and consistently support the argument's position.  Facts and details are provided to support the argument's position, but important information is either unclear or left position, but important information is either unclear or left position, but important information is either unclear or left position, but important information is either unclear or left position. Facts and details are often formulaic.  Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.  1 1	1 ,	1	1
Development of Ideas (Details & Elaboration)  Very clear and well-presented facts and details clearly and consistently support the argument's position.  Facts and details are provided to support the argument's position, but important information is either unclear or left  Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the argument's position. Facts and details are often formulaic.  Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.  1 1 1	· ·	1	1
Very clear and well-presented facts and details clearly and consistently support the argument's position.  Facts and details are provided to support the argument's position, but important information is either unclear or left  Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the argument's position. Facts and details are often formulaic.  Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.  1 1	presented in the paper.
consistently support the argument's position.  Facts and details are provided to support the argument's position, but important information is either unclear or left  Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the argument's position. Facts and details are often formulaic.  Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.  1 1	Development of Ideas (Details & Elaboration) position, but important information is either unclear or left  Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the argument's position. Facts and details are often formulaic.  Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.  1 1	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·	4	4
Facts and details are present, but they don't really support the argument's position. Facts and details are often formulaic.  Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.	, ,,	3	3
argument's position. Facts and details are often formulaic.  Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.  1 1	·	_	_
Support the argument's position is provided.  Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·	2	2
Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar  Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.	Very few facts or details present in the paper. No evidence to	1	1
Writer's word choice and language is clear, concise, and appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.  1 1	support the argument's position is provided.	1	1 appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor punctuation or spelling mistakes.  Writer's word choice and language is mostly clear and unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.	Use of Language / Conventions & Grammar	ı unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate.  Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional spelling and grammar mistakes.  Writing is formulaic and simple, and the tone is not appropriate to the persuasive writing task.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.  1 1	appropriate to the expository writing task.  Writer shows consistent command of grammar with only minor	4	4 to the persuasive writing task.  Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.  1 1	unambiguous, and the tone of the paper is appropriate. Writer shows moderate command of grammar with occasional	3	3
Writer makes many mistakes that 10th grade students should not be making.  Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.	, , , ,
Writing is vague and confusing. Sentences are simple and awkward.		2	2   2
awkward.	should not be making.
Writer makes many grammar and spelling mistakes.		1	1
	Writer makes many grammar and spelling mistakes.							